SOLDIER EN ROUTE

PARENTS OF ASA W. BOTT RECEIVE WORD THAT HE WILL REACH GLENDALE SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Bott of 667 Patterson have received word that their son, Asa W. Bott, will arrive in Glendale Sunday morning. He has been a long time away for he left for France October 24th, two years ago, and served there with Company C of the 23d Engineers. A good part of the time he was employed in road building, but in the Argonne offensive he was a fighting participant. Good luck attended him, however, he received no wounds and his pictures indicate that he is in fine health. He was discharged from the service over there about two months ago, but was asked to remain and assist with clerical work the American Relief Association. His duties have taken him all over France and he has written that he will have much to tell of general interest.

GROWERS REFUSE TO SELL HOGS AT REDUCED PRICES

One of Glendale's meat dealers, when asked if pork had come down in price to the dealer, now that the wholesale price has declined from the high level of more than $20 a hundred, replied that small dealers could get no pork at all, as the packing houses claim the growers will not sell at the new prices. The latter say they have fed their stock on high-priced feed and would lose money on less than $20 a hundred pounds for the animals.

NEW OIL STATION OPEN FOR BUSINESS

E. D. Leclare, who built the brick supply station and refreshment stand at the southeast corner of Colorado and Brand, has leased the supply station to A. W. Crumb, who will conduct it under the name of the "C-B Supply Station," as will be seen by his ad in today's Evening News. It is completely fitted up in every way with accurate pumps, air hose, water fillers and a full line of accessories. The unusually wide driveways and the number of them recommend this station, particularly to lady drivers. Mr. Crumb is very much pleased with the location and anticipates a heavy business.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Red Cross workers in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and a number of other cities in California have decided that the collection and sale of salvage is no longer a necessary task as they have funds in their treasuries which will be ample to meet for some time to come the demands of their home service departments. They argue that this resource should be made available for local charities. Other organizations have been quick to take advantage of the suggestion.

Miss Ellen Churchill and Miss Minnie Moulton of South Maryland avenue, this city, who have given much time and effort to salvage work here, were guests on Thursday at a luncheon at Hotel Clark, Los Angeles, to perfect plans for the opening of a salvage salesroom for the benefit of the Children's Hospital of that city. Mrs. Albert Crutcher, president of the Children's Hospital Society, Doctors Victor E. Stork and George P. Laton, of the medical staff, and Mrs. Budd Frankenfield, general manager for

"Home Coming Week" will be enjoyed by the Baptist people next week. Pastor Ford is back from his vacation, many of the church people are back and numbers of new ones have moved in. Commencing with Sunday morning the Baptists will be "at home" to all members and friends. The pastor will preach at both services. A reception will be given him and his family Tuesday evening. Wednesday evening the regular prayer meeting will be held, with "at home" features and on Thursday afternoon will be held the Annual Missionary Picnic of the Women's Society, to which the men are invited. The motto for the week is, "Let us look up, and laugh, and love, and lift."

Mrs. Jack Wagnon and son, Jack Donald, expect to leave next Wednesday for Oklahoma City to visit Mrs. Wagnon's parents. Miss Gallagher, who has been visiting here for the past seven months, will go with Mrs. Wagnon and stop for a visit at Oklahoma City on her way to her home in Denver.

BRAND NEW INDUSTRY

GLENDALE PLANT TO MANUFACTURE GELATINOUS PRODUCTS FROM SEAWEED

In the big reinforced concrete building just off of Park avenue, near the S. P. tracks, there is now housed an industry that is claimed by its proprietors to be the only one of its kind in the world. It is the making of gelatine and gelatinous products of seaweed. Most if not all of these products are now made of the hoofs of horses and cattle, and it is intended by the new company to revolutionize the process and keep at home the more than 700,000, sent abroad annually for this class of goods. One would have thought that the large building mentioned, which was built originally as a manufactory for pianos, would have been much larger than needed for the purpose, but, on the contrary, a frame addition of considerable proportions had to be built to house the engine and motors. This engine room with all new machinery and a battery of condensing pipes, is certainly a "thing of beauty." But the outstanding feature of the whole outfit is the iceless refrigerating room, 14x40 feet, and claimed to be the largest of its kind in the country. There are five coils of ammonia pipe for the refrigerating process, two along the ceiling and three along the sides and ends. More than 4000 feet of black pipe, nearly all 2-inch and some 2½-inch, are used in this room, and a zero temperature can be maintained constantly if necessary. Six immense kettles with furnaces underneath, for the boiling of the sea-

DOWN FROM BEAUMONT

R. A. Siple came down Thursday from Beaumont where he and Mrs. Siple are now living and cultivating their deciduous fruit ranch. He leaves today. When interviewed Friday he said he has had good crops, that he picked about 12 tons of cherries and over 20 tons of pears; that he is looking for between 10,000 and 15,000 boxes of apples. Prices have been good but expenses have been heavy owing to increased wages and cost of materials so the margin of profit has been somewhat reduced. The elevation of the ranch is about 5000 feet and Mr. Siple is enthusiastic about its fine climate and freedom from fog. It is possible Mr. Siple will make regular trips to market his fruit a little later in the season and in that event will be seen here frequently.

DOUBLE BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Mrs. A. Baker, of Brand and Park avenue, recently entertained with an all-day celebration and family dinner at which her husband and her son-in-law, J. A. Booth, of Pomona, were guests of honor. August 31st was the natal day of both men, and Mr. Baker attained the age of 67 on that date. He proudly claims twenty grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Booth and six children, Mr. and Mrs. Clye Baker and five children of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. E. Stout and four children of this city.

TRAVEL SHOWER

MRS. C. F. PARKER GIVES FAREWELL FUNCTION FOR MRS. A. W. DOW

A very delightful party was that given Friday afternoon by Mrs. C. F. Parker of 221 North Central avenue in honor of her house guest, Mrs. A. W. Dow, who is leaving soon to spend the winter in Chicago and other eastern points.

Besides the guest of honor and hostess those present were: Mrs. Harrie Dow, Miss Jennie Cornwell, Mrs. V. E. Philp, Mrs. David Gregg, Mrs. J. M. Border, Mrs. Wash Hunt, and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett of Glendale, Mrs. L. S. Frink of Fullerton, and Mrs. F. H. Terry of Los Angeles.

Beautiful dahlias graced the table in the living room, other flowers used in decoration being pink roses and heliotrope. The afternoon was spent in conversation and Five Hundred. Delicious refreshments were served after which came the surprise of the day when a pretty basket decorated with a huge pink bow was placed before the honoree. It contained pretty gifts from her friends for use on her journey. All enjoyed the opening, inspection and reading of the notes after which adieus were spoken to the gracious hostess and a charming afternoon became a delightful memory.

PRESIDENT DENOUNCES TREATY OPPONENTS

DECLARES "THEY WILL AT LAST BE GIBBETTED AND REGRET THAT THE GIBBET IS SO HIGH"

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Convention Hall, Kansas City, Sept. 6.—Addressing an audience of 12,000 persons, President Wilson today declared that opponents of the peace treaty who view the document with "jaundiced eyes," or who oppose it because of some "private political purpose," will "at last be gibbetted and they will regret that the gibbet is so high."

The President's speech was punctuated with many outbursts of applause. There were occasional shouts for "Jim Reed," Kansas City being the home of Senator Reed, who is a leading opponent of the league.

Wilson reiterated that it is a case of "put up or shut up," and that the opposition must produce something better as a substitute for the league or quit. He declared that otherwise the opponents' position amounted to near Bolshevism.

Declaring he respected those who honestly oppose the league through ignorance, he denounced those opposed for political reasons. He declared that under the league plan the Philippine Islands will get their independence.

Great applause greeted his declaration that "the American spirit has made a conquest of the world. The war was won by the American spirit."

He maintained that if the treaty is beaten, those responsible will have a life-long reckoning with the fighting forces of the United Stattes.

"The destruction of minority rule," he said, "is one purpose of the treaty." He cited Russia as an example of minority rule and denounced "the group of men more cruel than the Czar himself now in control of Russia." "Little groups of selfish men must not block the future of America," he concluded.

The President's train left Kansas City for Des Moines promptly at noon. The President will speak in Des Moines tonight.

SECRETARY DANIELS LEAVES 'FRISCO FOR ASTORIA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Secretary Daniels and party left this morning for Astoria on the battleship "Arkansas." The remainder of the fleet will leave Monday.

FROM FAR SIBERIA

MRS. PERRY GOES TO 'FRISCO TO MEET SOLDIERS ARRIVING FROM RUSSIA

Mrs. Perry, mother of C. A. Perry of 111 North Louise, is leaving next week for San Francisco to be there when the U. S. transport arrives with 1500 soldiers from Siberia. She is hoping that her son, Walter Perry, will be with them and that she will find him all right. So many reports have been circulated of the bad condition of some of the men who are said to be broken down physically or mentally by the hardships they have undergone that she is naturally anxious.

Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. A. Perry, states that she is being sent by the Salvation Army charged with the duty of investigating conditions, of getting the names of the men and of sending post cards to their friends and relatives announcing their arrival. She will, of course, have help which will be furnished by the 'Frisco Salvation Army officers.

About six thousand men of the American forces were sent to Siberia and according to letters written by some of them to friends here their experiences have been very hard. Supplies were delayed and when the provision boat finally got through, much of the food it carried is said to have been spoiled and was thrown overboard. Then their numbers were so small, in comparison with the Bolsheviki that they were continually harrassed and had no rest night nor day. Some have written that they had not had their clothes off for two months.

Mrs. Perry will circulate in San Francisco the petition she has been pushing here asking the government to recall all soldiers in Siberia. She expects to be gone ten days or two weeks.

Several Glendale boys have been in service in Siberia, the list including Verne M. Freeman, son of Mrs. Ida M. Freeman of 105 South Maryland avenue.

DIFFERENT WORK

W. D. Root, the High School teacher who is now residing at 110 Olive street, has demonstrated with considerable success that change of work is recreation. He has put in most of the summer in work at a factory in Torrance which turns out materials in what is known as the Steel American System of Reinforcing Concrete. They make steel bars sixty feet in length and then cut them to the dimensions ordered by the contractors. They also manufacture the steel in spirals to be used in the construction of the handsome concrete pillars so much used on public buildings. They are now at work on a contract for the steel to be used in the new Linnard Hotel in the Wilshire District, which calls for 1200 tons of metal. The superintendent of the factory is an old friend and former teacher of Mr. Root.

UNIQUE LUNCHEON

MRS. C. E. NORTON ENTERTAINS MEMBERS WITH REAL OLD-TIME SOUTHERN BANQUET

Ladies who are members of the Executive Board of the Tuesday Afternoon Club for the year 1918-19 enjoyed a great treat Wednesday when they were guests of Mrs. C. E. Norton at a mid-day luncheon which practically amounted to a seven-course banquet. The hostess had long promised them a real old-fashioned bountiful southern meal and only waited until the chickens which she raises herself, should reach the proper frying age. Six of them were sacrificed for the luncheon and served in the style of the old south, with southern hot biscuits and all the toothsome accompaniments that the dwellers in Maryland and Tennessee know how to prepare. The hostess was assisted by her mother, who is an artist in cookery and who invented the dessert served, an orange dumpling beautiful in appearance and delicious to the taste. It was the aim of the entertainers to give such a menu as their guests had never enjoyed before, and they more than realized their hopes. The ladies are still talking about the wonderful meal. Centaureas were used in the carrying out of a lavender color scheme of decoration and the table was very pretty in all its appointments. Covers were laid for Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, Mrs. E. D. Yard, Mrs. Freeman Kelley, Mrs. Andrew Findlay, Mrs. John Robert White, Mrs. C. E. Norton, Mrs. W. F. Nash, Mrs. E. H. Willisford, the hostess and her mother. Mrs. Harry Duffield had expected to be present, but at the last minhte was prevented from coming.

SCHOOL OPENING

SUPERINTENDENT WHITE GIVES INFORMATION OF INTEREST TO PARENTS

The first term of school will open on Monday, Sept. 15, 1919. It is very important that every child should enter school on the first day and should thereafter be regular and punctual in his attendance. Any absence may be a serious menace to the child's standing in his classes.

School Age

The legal age for entering school is six years. However, an allowance of three months is made. This means that in order to enter the first grade a child would have to be six on or before December 15, 1919. No beginner will be admitted after the close of the first month of the term.

Kindergartens

Kindergartens will be opened at the Columbus Ave., Colorado St., Broadway, Cerritos Ave., Pacific Ave. and Doran St. Schools. Children of Kindergarten age residing in the Central Ave. District will attend the Columbus Ave. School. The law states the Kindergarten age to be from four and one-half to six years. This law is interpreted to mean that the child will have to be four and a half before the end of the third month of school, i. e., in this case on or before December 15, 1919. No allowance is made for over age. Any child who is six years old or older on

WHAT WILL TEACHERS DO?

Friends of Glendale teachers are wondering where they will all find abiding places the coming year, for the majority are transients who relinquish their living quarters when the school year ends and go elsewhere for the summer. One High School teacher had the forethought to secure a permanent home by marrying the principal, and Mr. Blanford, who is to be supervisor of physical instruction in the city schools, married a wife and established his home this summer, but what about the rest of them? Some of the home seekers who have camped at the office of the Glendale News waiting for papers that would possibly contain advertisements of houses and apartments to rent, have solved the problem by buying houses. Will the teachers have to buy an apartment house and turn out its occupants?

COMMUNITY SING

CHORUS ASSEMBLES TO WELCOME LEADER AND REORGANIZE FOR SEASON'S WORK

A revival or get-together meeting of the Community Chorus took place at Glendale Union High School Thursday evening. Mr. Kirchoffer was present and held quite a reception before it was called to order, as all the singers wanted to greet him. When he appeared on the platform the audience united in three cheers leaving him no room for doubt as to the cordiality of his welcome. He responded in kind and expressed his pleasure in renewing acquaintance with the chorus and his pride in it. In that connection he told of an article that met his eye in a New York magazine published by a musical federation which announced that it had been left for two small towns in the west—Glendale and Hollywood, California—to be the pioneers in community chorus contests. It then described in a complimentary way the two choruses and the good work they were doing, also the contest held at Glendale, embellishing the description with the statement that the Hollywood singers stopped on the way and sang at the farm houses to interest and persuade the farmers to come with them to the sing, a bit of imagination which greatly amused the Glendale audience and Mr. Kirchoffer who said it was evident Glendale's light was not hidden under a bushel.

The leader announced that he would at once begin drill for another contest and with that in prospect the repertoire of the evening was "Howdy Do," "Last Night," "Last Rose

LOS ANGELES MOST HEAVILY BONDED CITY IN U. S.

In making a point against the taking over by the city of the L. A. Railway system, one of the big dailies frankly stated, editorially, that Los Angeles is the most heavily bonded city, in proportion to its population, in the United States. No wonder so many desperate attempts are being made to annex adjoining municipalities to get them to share the heavy burden.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1919

THE MERCHANT IS THE GOAT

There are printers and advertising solicitors in Los Angeles who make a business of arranging with organizations in the outlying cities to print year books, monthly papers, etc. and furnish them free or nearly so to the church, club or city, depending upon financial support from the merchants and professional men who are lured into patronizing these outsiders in the belief that the advertising money paid or a portion of it goes into the treasuries of the local organizations, and sometimes the argument is used by the solicitor that members of the organization are apt to withhold patronage from merchants not giving the publication support.

For a year or more a church paper published in Glendale has been handled by outside parties, the expense of publishing being mainly paid from money received for advertising from business men. Of course the solicitors are trained in their line of work and usually get connected with a local individual so as to disguise the outside solicitor feature of the game. Their scheme works pretty well or they would not be able to continue it.

The very latest attempt along this line is the case of an outside soliciting firm connected with a local individual to have business men pay for the printing in pamphlet form the city ordinances of Glendale.

So well trained in their profession are these outside solicitors that they induced the city officials to endorse the plan, something very few city officials would do, in the face of the great opposition there is in every city to encourage any plan that will make it possible for these trained solicitors to make their living at the expense of the local merchants. Every city has a fund from which printing, when necessary, may be paid, and thus the expense would be divided among all taxpayers.

The merchants of many cities have organized for the purpose of protecting themselves from the unnecessary expense heaped upon them by professional solicitors.

DISEASES OF PLANTS

HOW TO DETECT THEM AND SUCCESSFULLY COMBAT THEIR SPREAD

(By Prof. Alfred Cookman)
Dept. of Agriculture, Santa Monica City Schools

In our country alone the loss from plant disease amounts to many millions of dollars each year. Nearly all of this can be avoided. We must first find out what causes the disease. We can then usually find some way to check it.

This loss is mostly caused by tiny plants called fungi. If you wish to see an example of such a minute plant, put a bit of moldy bread on a piece of wood in a saucer and cover it up with a tumbler. Pour a little water into the saucer to keep the air moist. Soon a white growth is seen. Close observation will reveal to the casual observer masses of thread. You can see that the threads have branches. Most fungi are such masses of branching threads.

In recent years the governments of nearly all the nations have appropriated large sums and have established experimental stations, so that the men of science and research may carry on successfully, important investigations concerning the pathological significance of these minute, spore-bearing plants whose very existence in many incidents is detrimental to the flora of the world.

Fungi exceed every other class of living organisms both in the number of species and individuals composing them. They include such diverse forms as bacteria, molds, rusts, mildews, mushrooms and the like, ranging in size all the way from the giant puffball, a foot or more in diameter, to the almost inconceivably minute influenza bacillus, of which nearly two hundred thousand million can inhabit a single drop of water without inconvenient crowding!

The Parasitic Habit

While their life history is obscure and hard to trace, and only with the aid of powerful microscopes can they be successfully studied, the fungi are, as a class, well differentiated by their parasitic habit. They contain no chlorophyll (green coloring matter within the cells of the plant), can manufacture no food (dependent upon decaying vegetation or animal product to supply their nourishment for existence), and require moisture, the absence of sunlight and air. On this account they are active agents in the production of disease and decay. The most dreaded of these saprophytic organisms are the bacteria representatives of the fungi group. Nearly all human diseases may be directly or indirectly traced to the action or activity of some pathogenic organism in the body of its host. The "battle of life" is largely a struggle against these invisible foes.

Not all fungi, however, are injurious. On the contrary, the great majority of them are harmless, and very many kinds are positively beneficial to man. Without the yeasts and bacteria of fermentation we could not have our bread and cheese. Other forms are active agents in the fertilization of soils. Even the bacteria of putrefaction are engaged in an unceasing work as scavengers, without which life would no longer be possible on our globe.

Molds and Related Plants

Every one has seen the blue or green spots on oranges and lemons which are made by mold. Until recently there has been a great deal of loss every year from this cause. One moldy fruit in a box of oranges may spread the fungus disease, in the course of time, over the entire box car and thousands of oranges would be infected by the rapid development of the spores. Growth of mold can be prevented if care is taken not to break the skin of the fruit infected. The breaking of the skin liberates the spores.

Another disease which produces spots on lemons is the "lemon rot." This fungi can penetrate the skin even where it is not bruised or broken. A lemon with brown rot will soon affect all the lemons in the box or pile in which it is placed. The odor attracts swarms of small flies. Formalin, bluestone and permanganate of potash have been used in washing fruit for market. These chemicals have been successfully used in killing the fungus.

Peaches, apricots, plums and nectarines are often infected with brown rot, causing the young fruit to turn brown and later on to shrivel and dry up on the tree. The fruit is then covered with a coat of mold. It may be checked by spraying with Bordeaux mixture—a copper sulphate, lime and watery solution used best as a spray.

Potato and Tomato Blight

The fungus causing these diseases does not merely attack the surface, but penetrates into the plant. It causes the dreaded potato blight of the East and Europe, and some trouble in the California vegetable industry. It sometimes attacks tomatoes during wet weather, and is called winter blight. There is a marked difference between winter and summer blight. The winter blight appears as dark spots on the leaves, stems and fruit. Soon the whole vine becomes black and dead. The best remedy is spraying with Bordeaux mixture. (California Experimental Station Bulletin 175). The summer blight of the tomato is not affected by spraying and is difficult to control. Where this occurs, the farmer should destroy the vine infected to prevent the spreading of the dreaded spores over to healthy tomato plants growing in close proximity to the diseased vine.

As the peach season draws to a close and the fruit of labor has been successfully harvested, and the canneries have stored away thousands of standard and extra standards and varieties, we herald the tomato crops from the valleys and neighboring glens.

Remember, farmers and gardeners, that a little knowledge in the study of plant diseases will enable you to produce a more successful crop next season and in the years to follow. In my next article I will speak of the rusts, smuts and mildews from a pathological point of view, and will conclude the series with a study of injurious and beneficial insects of the garden crop.

MILLIONS IN IT

GOOD ROADS EXPENDITURES FOR 1919 TOTAL IMMENSE SUM

The stupendous sum of $340,394,536 is to be spent this year on good roads. Texas leads with $60,480,000. California is next with $20,498,534, Michigan follows with $15,000,000, then Ohio with $13,321,500, Minnesota with $11,127,986, Utah with $10,092,794, and so on down to North Dakota, which is the lowest with an expenditure of only $1,082,000. Every state in the union is spending between one and sixty millions for good roads. Texas is not only far in the lead this year, but she also led last year. She has only 22,000 miles of good roads, as against 126,000 miles of unimproved roads.

Iowa deserves the palm for consistent paved highway construction. This state spent approximately $15,000,000 in this work during 1917 and a like amount last year. This year's outlay of $20,000,000 will make a total of $60,000,000 in three years. Iowa's road building program, if completed as planned, will mean a paved highway north and south as well as east and west. No other state has so comprehensive a plan as this.

In the Central States the notable achievement for the year will be the completion of the Dixie Highway from Chicago to Macon, Ga. Illinois will complete 54.5 miles of this at a cost of $904,700, and Georgia will construct 72 miles, from Atlanta to Macon, at a cost considerably in excess of a million dollars. It will be noted that the agricultural states of Iowa, California, Michigan, Ohio and Indiana rank next to Texas in good roads expenditures, far exceeding the manufacturing states of the East.

WAR AND THE MOTOR TRUCK

It took the war to demonstrate the merit of the motor truck. It was there all the time, but we could not see it. This is a fact that is slowly dawning on the people. It is a sad pity that the war, with all its hideous destruction of life and property was required to bring this truth to light, but it was ever thus. Not only did the war show what wonderful things a motor truck could do, but it developed a crop of expert drivers who will stick to that work and lead others into it. Many a boy today has a burning ambition to become the skilled driver of a motor truck or train, especially over the vast reaches of the mighty West.

FEDERAL ROAD AID

NEW LIGHT ON GOVERNMENT PARTICIPATION DEVELOPING

According to one of the leading motor publications an entirely new angle on Federal participation in building and maintaining roads has developed. Expert engineering opinion upholds the superiority of the bill introduced by Osborne of California, over the one by Townsend of Michigan, but it is shown that either plan, particularly the Townsend plan, would deprive states of control of their principal highways and that the Townsend 5 per cent. limit would "relieve" them of sovereignty over practically their entire road systems. Calculations indicate the special proviso for the "benefit" of Western states would involve a grab, not a gift. Members of Congress have a multiplicity of measures to handle and often do not, as they should, employ subject-experts (of whom there are many in Government service) to analyze such measures before introducing them. The Osborne plan is said to have originated with a California lawyer who makes national highway plans a hobby. Senator Townsend has been in close touch with road problems a long time, but that he was unaware of what his plan would do to state systems seems obvious. George F. Cotterell, chief engineer of the highway department of the State of Washington, has calculated what should have been learned long ago; that plans proposed to supersede or follow the present Bankhead plan would deprive states of control of highway transportation to an intolerable degree. Mr. Cotterell's facts and figures appear to be incontestable. He outlines a plan whereby Federal aid and co-operation would be greatly enlarged and improved, with minimum disturbance of the present plan, and a country-wide road system obtained without dislodging needed state rights. The situation is maturing. The more quickly and thoroughly the better. More roads, more production—the necessity is becoming imperative. We cannot be sorry any revelations have appeared which may temporarily delay adoption of any plan of great scope, until the plan is devised which will be fair to all interests, as well as expeditious. We do say, however, that if some one well paved transcontinental route were completed, it would do more than any one thing, as a great artery of travel and as a commercial example, to push forward the movement for better roads.

INSURANCE RATES

AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA SUCCEEDS IN LOWERING THEM

Automobile insurance rates, affecting thousands of auto owners throughout Southern California have been lowered twenty-five per cent. by the Automobile Club of Southern California, through its insurance department, setting an unheard of precedent for the United States.

While Club rates were considered unusually low already, due to the elimination of costly overhead expense and the co-operative plan under which the big organization was conducted, the directors and officials, according to President Fred L. Baker, have decided that an even greater saving may be effected for automobile owners and at the same time maintain the unusual quality of service for which the Automobile Club is noted.

It was the Southern California organization of motorists which, in 1912, led the way for other clubs in establishing an insurance department calculated to save individual auto owners large sums annually. So successful was the plan that organizations throughout America have adopted the idea and as a consequence insurance rates on fire, theft, collision and property damage for automobiles have been forced downward.

According to Ralph Reynolds, manager of the Auto Club's insurance department, immediate adjustments of loss through the nineteen branch offices of the club located in all southern counties will be one of the features of the insurance in the future. Motorists in placing their insurance with the Auto Club, it is pointed out, not only will effect the remarkable saving made possible by the co-operative plan, but will aid the southern part of the state in proving that signposts and other types of service are of special value to the visiting motorists.

A Tacoma genius has invented a device to give warning when a tire is deflated. It is fixed to the rim and the giving down of the tire releases a spring which raps the roadway hard, giving out warning sounds.

HELPED WIN VICTORY

SERVICE STATION MANAGER DISCUSSES BATTERIES USED IN WAR WORK

That batteries produced by The Electric Storage Battery Company played an important part in the war-winning program was recently made known by Mr. Knox, manager of the local "Exide" Service Station. "Of course, 'Exide' Batteries helped Uncle Sam," said Mr. Knox; "they were in the war from the very beginning, but the Government thought it best that we 'say nothing and saw wood.' However, now that the fighting's over, it won't do any harm to reminisce a bit.

"A battleship on a cruise, for instance, must be absolutely self-dependent; it's got to be equipped to successfully meet one hundred per cent. of the emergencies that may arise. Every United States vessel of war is provided, in addition to its regular system of lighting, with an auxiliary or reserve from which it can draw current for emergency lights in case of necessity, and the 'Ironclad Exide' or 'Exide' Batteries were used to supply this reserve. In the huge supertype of battleship, the latest war monster built by the United States, provision for auxiliary power for steering is supplied by an electrically operated equipment that will enable the tremendous bulk of these great ships to respond to the rudder, even should the entire engine room be out of commission. 'Ironclad-Exide' Batteries were used here with remarkable success.

"In electric locomotive work, a war service of great importance, the 'Exide' and 'Ironclad-Exide' Batteries were used. And the part played by the 'Exide' Battery in airplane and seaplane service would seem to have been second in importance only to that of the motor itself. The 'Exide' Battery was also used for field telephone service and for telephone communication in the trenches, and many of the United States submarines called into important war service in English waters were equipped with 'Exide' or 'Ironclad-Exide' Batteries.

"If we both had the time," said Mr. Knox, "I could cover practically the entire field of war activity and show you instances of where products of The Electric Storage Battery Company were advantageously used in every branch of service. There is, however," he concluded, "just one more point I want to make, and that is that the same dependability, sturdiness and enduring quality which gave The Electric Storage Battery Company's batteries such a prominent place in war work is built right into every detail of the 'Exide' Starting and Lighting Battery for Automobiles."

GOOD MOTTO FOR UNDERTAKERS

The Ford family of agents in Los Angeles county are having a quiet laugh these days over a story told at the expense of Eyler M. Fillmore, late assistant manager of the Los Angeles Branch, and B. L. Graves, the manager. The story went that the two contemplated throwing up their jobs with the Ford Company and embarking in the undertaking business in the east. Everything was going along well until suddenly Fillmore bucked. Graves wanted to know the cause of this sudden change. "Why," said Fillmore, "we're hoodooed from the start."

"I don't see how," said Graves. "Just let me show you," said his erstwhile partner. "Of course, I'd want my name first in the firm and think how it would sound for an undertaking firm to read: 'Fillmore Graves.' It's all off, I tell you." Jesse Smith suggests that Fillmore's point was not well taken for the object of every undertaking firm is to fill more graves and people die every day just to help them along in the work. Anyhow, the good, old Ford is not doing much in that line, though.

LUDENDORFF'S BOOK

Inside facts of the foredoomed attempt of Germany to dominate the world are to be revealed for the first time in the forthcoming book of General Ludendorff, publication of which will commence shortly in Germany, and in leading newspapers throughout the Allied and neutral countries. In the Southwest the exclusive rights for the Ludendorff book have been secured by the Los Angeles Examiner, which will start publication of it September 7th and print daily installments until the work is completed.

In England, Ludendorff's book will appear in the Northcliffe newspapers; in Paris in Le Temps; and in America in leading newspapers, including the Philadelphia Public Ledger, the Boston Post, the Chicago News, the New York World, the Toronto Star and many others.

Lord Northcliffe and Sir George Hutchinson, the great English publicists, went to Stockholm, personally read the manuscript of the expose and immediately pronounced it the Great Story of the German Side of the War. The largest cash advance in the history of the publishing business was paid for the manuscript, the American rights of which were secured by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Throughout the Great War, and especially toward the close of it, Ludendorff's voice in the Teuton military councils transcended all others, even that of the Kaiser, and when the crash came last November and he broke with the Kaiser and Von Hindenburg, he seized a mass of official documents and records and fled to Sweden. There he personally embarked upon the preparation of his remarkable confession about to be given to the world.

Hitherto, German official secrecy has successfully concealed from the allied world the inside working of the Teuton war lords in the great crises of the war, but in his momentous work Ludendorff will tear aside this mysterious veil and reveal what happened behind the scenes of Hun military autocracy.

Official circles throughout the allied countries are anticipating the publication of Ludendorff's confession with intense interest in view of the fact that many moves of Germany and its many drives toward world conquest have hitherto been unexplained. It is expected also that many startling controversies will grow out of Ludendorff's disclosures, both in Germany and among the allied countries.

Q. Will it pay to put on Gates Half-Sole Tires instead of buying other tires?

A. It would be absurd for you to buy standard tires and pay the full price for them while the tires now on your car can be made to double or treble their mileage. By putting on a Gates Half-Sole Tire that costs you only ½ as much you will have all the qualities of a new standard tire and more—puncture-proof and 20% oversize.

NOVEL AND BEAUTIFUL

OAKLAND MOTOR CAR COMPANY'S OFFERINGS FOR THE CURRENT SEASON

Once a year about every motor car company tries to put out something new in design of body, convenience of seating or beauty of form and this is generally done along about the end of the year, for the next season. The Oakland Company, however, rather anticipated its rivals by putting forth the new model in midsummer. This new departure in beauty and convenience is the four-door Sedan. Many refinements in the body of the car have been incorporated for the sake of convenience and comfort. The outstanding feature, says Max Green, local Oakland agent, is the four wide doors that provide easy entrance and exit to and from the front and rear seats. The interior is unusually big and roomy and it is upholstered in automobile cloth with carpet in harmony, and is illuminated at night by a centered dome light. The windows in all four doors may be lowered partially or altogether, converting it at once to an airy, open model. An inconspicuous heater, utilizing the exhaust vapors supplies clean, warm air in the cool winter days.

the day the term begins will not be admitted to the Kindergarten. Such child may, of course, enter school if the parents so desire. In order that the parent may have a choice between the Kindergarten and the School, the child must be between five years and nine months and six years old on the day the term begins.

Parents are advised not to send their children to Kindergarten until they are at least four years and nine months old for the following reasons: First, we have a Kindergarten course of only one year and if a child finishes that before he has attained to school age he will either have to drop out for a half year or take the same work over again in the Kindergarten; second, a child of five will get much more out of the Kindergarten work than a child of four and a half.

J. W. M. Burton was one of the victims of the deadly cigarette stub thrown, while still burning, from an up-stairs window in Los Angeles. He recently had quite a hole burned in his auto top by this method.

An adjustable pedal extension which enables a short-legged person to negotiate the various gear shifting and brake devices of the Ford car, is a recent invention.

There is too much speeding on East Broadway. Some day a serious accident will result from this and some driver be burdened, mayhap, with a life-long regret.

The ideal weather this past summer, combined with our incomparable good roads, has made Glendale the mecca of many tourists and home-seekers, this year.

It is announced that no extension beyond Sept. 22d will be made for fitting autos with glareless lenses and that arrests will begin the morning of the 23d of every driver whose car does not show legal lenses.

IS GRATEFUL FOR QUICK AD RESULT

Mrs. L. L. Harker of 434 West Doran wrote the Evening News as follows this morning:

"My ad in your paper yesterday brought a cash purchaser for my Buick car in less than two hours after paper came out. I spent time and money trying to sell otherwise. I am much gratified at the quick results for such a small cost and all worry and trouble eliminated. Please discontinue ad."

Ed M. Lee, president of the Glendale Savings Bank, is relieving C. D. Lusby, cashier of the bank, while he takes his vacation.

Mrs. Ida B. Lewis has leased her Broadway property to a couple of ladies who are new comers in Glendale, and has gone to Long Beach to live.

The Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations will hold its first meeting of the new school year Monday afternoon, September 15th, at the Intermediate School.

Mrs. L. A. Wagnon of 425 North Kenwood street and her guest, Mrs. L. Weaver of Dennison, Texas, have just returned from a pleasant outing at Long Beach.

When last heard from Mr. and Mrs. Glenn B. Porter and their Ford had gotten as far as Omaha on their homeward journey. They are expected in Glendale some time between the 15th and 30th of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Toll and family of Kenneth Road got home Wednesday night from a month's auto and camping tour of northern California. They saw wonderful scenery and had adventures by the way of which the story will be told later.

Mrs. R. E. Downing left Thursday night for Philadelphia. She is returning with her sister, Mrs. Geo. C. Davies, of Philadelphia, who, with her two children, has been spending the summer visiting relatives in Glendale and Burbank. Mrs. Downing expects to be away until the first of the year and on her return trip will visit in Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas.

Mrs. Robert C. Goudie, Sr., and daughters, Miss Clara Marie and Grace, of 458 West Maple avenue, were luncheon guests of Miss Betty Compson and Mrs. Compson of Winslow Drive, Hollywood. In the afternoon they attended the Kinema Theater where "The Miracle Man" is being featured, in which Miss Compson is the leading lady. Mrs. Goudie reports it to be a wonderful picture and agrees with many that it is one of the best of the year.

Miss Lillian Eaton, who formerly taught in the Colorado Street School and who has many friends here, visited her home on Lomita avenue this week. She has recently been teaching at San Pedro, but has been given a six months' leave of absence in which to build up her health by outdoor work. She has been picking fruit this summer at Beaumont and Hemet and has now gone to the Imperial Valley with the intention of laboring in the cotton fields.

Members of the Midsummer Bridge Club were entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Helen Campbell on Isabel street. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of play. The ladies present were: Mesdames W. H. Crocker, Lester Jones, A. A. MacIntyre, Charles Parker, W. W. Ramsay, C. E. Norton, Mrs. Montgomery and the hostess. At its next meeting the club will be entertained by Mrs. Charles Parker at her home on North Orange street.

Rev. R. W. Mottern, daughter Elizabeth and son Dorsey returned last night from Redondo Beach after a few days' outing there. They report having had a splendid time in the bath-house and out on the fishing pier catching mackerel, and in numerous other enjoyable ways. Mrs. R. W. Mottern arrives tonight from the East, on the California Limited of the Santa Fe, after having spent ten most delightful weeks among relatives and friends in various sections of Pennsylvania.

Because of the growing and widespread demand for the "Williams Wear," manufactured in this city by the proprietor of the Williams Dry Goods Store, he has made preparations to meet inquiries by issuing a very attractive illustrated folder, the pictures displaying the dresses in actual wear. The recipient of the folder can obtain a much better idea of the style and general appearance of the product than could be conveyed by a description. The preparation of such a business document is an evidence of business enterprise which promises well for the future of the local factory.

ALL HANDS ON DECK AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN

At the morning service, following the Bible School session, Rev. Cole will preach on "Loyalty to the Loyal." The regular weekly communion service will follow. In the evening the sermon subject will be "The Dimensions of Christianity."

A GREAT "BUY"

Suppose I offered to sell you a 20-acre farm on the installment plan with the following options;—

Option 1—If you should die before the farm is paid for I will cancel the balance due and give your widow a clear deed to the property.

Option 2—If after you have made TWO payments you decide that you don't want to continue I will give you a deed to that portion that you have paid for.

Option 3—If you prefer, after the two payments I will return all your money less the rent for the time you have used the property.

Option 4—Or, after the two payments you can have the use of the entire farm till you have used up your equity in rent.

Option 5—If you give up the property I will hold it for you for a few years so that, by making back payments you may secure it again at the original price.

Wouldn't that be a wonderful proposition? And yet I can offer you a contract which is BETTER, because it is on exactly the same terms and is in MONEY instead of land. Nothing can equal it.

WARNING TO PARENTS

I have had many complaints about children on roller skates rushing along the sidewalk in front of garages without using any precautions against colliding with autos emerging therefrom. With your co-operation accidents can be avoided and the necessity obviated for the strict enforcement of the ordinance.

JOHN P. LAMPERT,
Chief of Police.

AGAINST THE CIGARETTE

At Central Christian, Wednesday evening after prayer meeting, Prof. F. W. Lough, formerly state chairman of the Anti-Saloon League of Indiana, made a very interesting talk on the nicotine peril. The people of this country, he said, are becoming aroused to the peril of the deadly cigarette in its benumbing effect upon the brain, especially in the case of schoolboys. He spoke of the efforts made by the manufacturers to induce boys to contract the cigarette habit and referred to the common neglect of municipal officers to enforce the strict laws against the sale of tobacco products to minors. He said that he personally notified the chief of police in Pasadena that there were such laws on the statute book of California, much to that officer's surprise, but he saw at once to the enforcement of the statutes, with the result that three dealers who had failed to display copies of the statutes prominently in their stores, were promptly arrested and fined. Prof. Lough referred to the deplorable fact that the cigarette habit is growing among women and girls, and urged parents to watch over their young children to see that they were not led away by this vice.

GLENDALE ORCHARD DE LUXE

In the northwest part of the city, on Patterson avenue, is located one of the most diversified family orchards to be found anywhere. It is at the home of R. E. Wheeler, who planted most of the trees himself, about five years ago. The grounds embrace about one acre, and Mr. Wheeler makes the boast that no matter what may be your choice of fruit, he can show it to you, growing on this place. This, of course, does not include the endless varieties of the different families of fruits, but does include one or more representatives of each family. Among those which may be termed novelties are dwarf pears from France; saucer peaches from Australia, avocados from Guatemala; limes from Mexico; figs from Smyrna, feijoas, etc. A trellis of thornless mammoth blackberries is one of California's own most recent creations. One tree, which, for want of a better name Mr. Wheeler calls a multiplex, has been successfully budded to no less than seven different kinds of fruits—kumquat, tangerine, seedless lime, sweet lemon, bouquet orange, Satsuma orange and Pomelo. Another novelty is a "Weeping Mulberry" whose foliage trails from two to three feet on the ground, forming a perfect quadrangle some ten feet across. Taken all together the Glendale soil and climate form a combination which cannot be excelled for diversified horticulture.

THIRD LECTURE

BY

Edward Adams Cantrell, Ph. D.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

Monday Eve., Sept. 9th, at 8 P.M.

TOPIC: FOLLOWING JESUS

Is any one in Glendale doing it? Is it practical? Is it desirable? Is any one here making any serious effort to do so?

Whatever differences of opinion may exist as to the matters discussed, all agree that here is a man well worth hearing.

As Christian Minister, as Chautauqua Lecturer and later as Exponent of Free Thinking in Religious Matters, Cantrell has occupied a unique position before the American people.

Never before has Glendale been treated to such a series of Rationalist Lectures and is fortunate in securing him.

TRAINING TOMATO VINES ON TRELLISES

Mrs. Mary Carr Merritt, whose remarkably productive little cluster of tomato vines on the vacant lot next to her home, 210 South Louise, was mentioned recently in the Evening News, says: "It is pleasant to know that people are interested in my garden and I am sure that none of the readers of the Glendale News are of the kind who stole my tomatoes a few nights ago. My training of tomato vines to grow on trellises was the result of a season's tangled growth and consequent decaying fruit, particularly with dry rot. While I had read of this mode of training the vines I had to work out this simple plan as better adapted to my limited strength. I have demonstrated that the fruit is superior and the loss from worms and dry rot is almost negligible. If my success will be an encouragement to other growers I will be glad."

weed, are being constructed, and just outside are a like number of concrete reservoirs to hold the necessary water.

The seaweed is gathered all along the coast of California and Mexico in boats specially fitted for the purpose, thoroughly dried, then baled in burlap for shipment to the manufactory. It comes there crisp and black, and is first boiled thoroughly until it becomes a sticky mass. This is then taken to the refrigerating room and thoroughly dehydrated, then bleached, till it becomes devoid of all moisture and perfectly white, a purely vegetable gelatine. Between 30 and 40 hands will be employed constantly when the manufactory is run to its full capacity.

The process for the manufacture is owned by a Japanese, Mr. Matsuoki, and he is not only president of the company, but general manager of the plant. He holds patents on the process in both Japan and this country. A. Harter is the constructive engineer in charge of refitting the building for the new work, installing the complicated system of pipes, the setting up and connecting of engine and motors and the construction of the boilers, etc. He seems to understand his work thoroughly and was most courteous and patient in explaining the various features of the new plant. The American Agar Co. is the designation of the firm owning the factory.

the hospital of the proposed salvage department, were the interesting speakers. All showed how much the work of this wonderful organization could be extended in the future by means of the income from salvage. It will be carried on under the new system of "no collections." This means that every friend of the work will be given an opportunity to get one or more bags at the Children's Hospital and when full the bags can be delivered at a salesroom, the location of which will be announced. An exception to the no-collection rule will be made in the case of furniture and other massive donations.

It is said to have been the cherished dream of Mrs. Otheman Stephens, "mother of salvage work," as she was called long before she died, that after the war it could be continued for the benefit of the Children's Hospital. Now, through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Budd Frankenfield, former Field Manager of the Red Cross Salvage Department, this has been accomplished. Mrs. Leigh Bancroft of this city has already given in her name for one of the bags and it is probable that in addition to Misses Churchill and Moulton many other Glendale ladies who have been interested in this institution for sick and crippled children of Southern California will actively participate in this good work.

of Summer," "Boola Song," "Dixie Land," "Old Black Joe;" with "America" to open and "Star Spangled Banner" to close the evening. Everybody beamed with enjoyment and it was a highly successful program.

President Mitchell introduced Mrs. Greenwalt, who announced the Mrs. Rastus Ragtime Tea to be given Friday, Sept. 12th, by the colored lady minstrels of Glendale at the home of Mrs. Ella Richardson. She promised solos, quartettes, a band, and a real old-fashioned interlocutor. The names of the artists she refused to divulge because she had pledged her word to Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Puffer, Mrs. Roach, Mrs. Barton and others that she wouldn't tell.

Mr. Mitchell reminded Mr. Kirch-offer of his promise to give the chorus a solo on his return from the east and suggested that he give it at the minstrel entertainment a proposition the audience enthusiastically endorsed. The leader shyly consented with the understanding that the solo would not be featured in advertisements of the "Ragtime Tea."

Because of the entertainment there will be no Community Sing next week.
